As CTM Evolves, Several Employees Are Promoted and More Hired

Lincolnshire, IL (Thursday, July 6, 2017) – Public accounting firm Chunowitz, Teitelbaum & Mandel, Ltd. (CTM) is pleased to announce multiple promotions in several key positions, including naming Julie Babetch, CPA, a partner of the firm, Glenn Magida, a manager, and Ewelina Klaczynska and Robert Webber, supervisors, effective June 1, 2017. The firm also has hired several new employees, including Manager Nicki Moschiano, Staff Accountant Lucy Korf, and Interns Lesley Levy and Nick Wolter.

PROMOTIONS

CTM Partner Julie E. Babetch, CPA

Julie Babetch is a highly respected tax advisor with more than two decades of accounting and tax planning experience. She brings years of insightful tax knowledge and an authentic client-centric focus to all of her engagements. When working with business, she takes the time to get to know people at all levels of the organization - whether a CEO or junior staff member - to gain a clear understanding of their particular nuances. By fully understanding an organization's unique set of circumstances, she is able to provide valuable recommendations that help clients obtain a more advantageous tax position. She also works with numerous high net-worth individuals, family limited partnerships, charitable foundations and charitable remainder trusts, helping them establish a solid financial foundation in spite of the ever-changing landscape of federal and state tax regulations.

Julie is an active member of the Women Entrepreneurs of Illinois, an exclusive networking group designed to foster genuine relationships among women seeking to develop new leads and referral sources. Julie graduated from Indiana University with an accounting degree in 1993, and became CPA-certified in 1996. She went on to earn a Baking and Pastry Certificate from Kendall College in 2004. She will often share some of her homemade treats with the rest of the firm.

“Julie has shown a steady progression of growth since joining the firm in 2010. Her attention to detail, and complete focus on client responsiveness has made her a valued member of the firm,” noted CTM Managing Partner Martin Magida. “We look forward to her continued excellence in delivering exceptional client service, and helping our clients with their financial success and growth.”

CTM Manager Glenn Magida

Since joining the firm in 2009 with a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Southern Illinois University, Glenn Magida has risen through the ranks, starting out as a staff accountant, working his way up to supervisor, and now manager. He works closely with numerous franchise Owner/Operators in the quick service restaurant industry, providing them with specialized accounting and tax services to enhance their overall financial health. Glenn has been instrumental in guiding the technological advancement of CTM’s accounting software, spearheading our clients’ transition to the new software as well as leading internal training programs for CTM’s staff.

CTM Supervisor Ewelina Klaczynska

Ewelina Klaczynska specializes in preparing federal and state tax returns for both individual and business clients. She is a master at researching and comprehending complicated tax laws. Using her keen analytical skills, she is able to quickly identify inconsistencies or anomalies when reviewing tax returns. She joined the firm in 2014 with a Master of Science in Accounting from Northeastern Illinois University and recently passed the CPA exam. She will be receiving her CPA license shortly.

CTM Supervisor Robert Webber

Robert Webber works with clients in a variety of industries, preparing their financial statements, as well as various federal, state and local tax returns. He is a quick learner, and was given greater responsibilities working with clients after demonstrating a high degree of versatility and independence. He joined CTM in 2014, shortly after graduating from DePaul University with a Bachelor's degree in Accountancy.

NEW CTM HIRES

Nicki Moschiano, CPA is a tax manager with 17 years of experience working in a public accounting environment. She specializes in tax planning, compliance, audit resolution and advisory services to family owned businesses, closely held corporations as well as partnerships, trusts and individuals. She obtained her Masters of Science in Accounting from Roosevelt University and a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mathematics from Dominican University.

Lucy Korf is a part-time staff accountant with substantial experience and skill in the fields of accounting, tax, financial analysis and business valuations. She also has a successful track record as an entrepreneur, starting a business that earned more than $1.5 million in sales annually until she sold it in 2011. She earned a Master in Management from Kellogg Graduate School of Management and Bachelor of Science in Accounting from Northern Illinois University.

Lesley Levy is working as intern while on break this summer from studying accounting at the University of Wisconsin – Madison.

Nick Wolter is also an intern at CTM. He recently completed his junior year at Augustana College in the Quad Cities, where he is majoring in accounting.
